The qualified voters of the city shall, on the first Tuesday in May, 1923, and biennially thereafter, select the person who shall be commissioner of the city. And if any person shall besoever become disqualified, or hold a title of office or pay within the city, and shall fail to receive the number of votes as hereinafter provided, a new election shall be held for the purpose of selecting the person who shall be commissioner of the city. And if any person thus selected shall be subsequently disqualified, or hold an office or pay within the city, or shall fail to receive the number of votes as hereinafter provided, a new election shall be held for the purpose of selecting the person who shall be commissioner of the city.

The qualified voters of the city shall, on the first Tuesday in May, 1923, and biennially thereafter, elect the person who shall be commissioner of the city. And if any person shall besoever become disqualified, or hold a title of office or pay within the city, and shall fail to receive the number of votes as hereinafter provided, a new election shall be held for the purpose of selecting the person who shall be commissioner of the city. And if any person thus selected shall be subsequently disqualified, or hold an office or pay within the city, or shall fail to receive the number of votes as hereinafter provided, a new election shall be held for the purpose of selecting the person who shall be commissioner of the city.

The qualified voters of the city shall, on the first Tuesday in May, 1923, and biennially thereafter, elect the person who shall be commissioner of the city. And if any person shall besoever become disqualified, or hold a title of office or pay within the city, and shall fail to receive the number of votes as hereinafter provided, a new election shall be held for the purpose of selecting the person who shall be commissioner of the city. And if any person thus selected shall be subsequently disqualified, or hold an office or pay within the city, or shall fail to receive the number of votes as hereinafter provided, a new election shall be held for the purpose of selecting the person who shall be commissioner of the city.